No. 173 - C. Trianaei very fine dark x C. Fred Sander var. Glorious A fine dark winter blooming hybrid should result from this cross. Both plants bloom in late December for us. Fred Sander bloomed seven flowers on two leads and received many compliments for its brilliant color.

No. 174 - C. Mossiae fine large dark x C. Fred Sander var. Glorious This should make a very fine dark late winter or early spring flower. Both parents very floriferous and fine. This Mossiae carried nine blooms on two leads, very large dark flowers.

No. 175 - C. Trianaei alba x C. Odalisque alba. This is a fine shaped white trianaei crossed with the very beautiful pure white Odalisque. Should result in a pure white or very light flower.

No. 176 - C. Mossiae Wagneri x C. Odalisque alba Two proven pure white parents - Should be very fine late winter - early spring pure white.

No. 177 - C. trianaei x C. Belgica Should produce a very fine large mid-winter cattleya.

No. 178 - C. trianaei var. Jungle Queen x Lc. Mermoz C. trianaei Jungle Queen was judged the best cattleya species in the 1949 South Florida Orchid Show. It has perfect shape and texture also strong growth, floriferous. Lc Mermoz is darker, fine and very floriferous. This should make a strong fine large flower of brilliant color.

No. 179 - Vanda Miss Joaquim x V. teres Should make a darker hybrid similar to V. Miss Joaquim.

No. 180 - Vanda Miss Joaquim x V. Rothschildiana Should be a very fine semi-terete with dark pink or purple flowers. Should be round with great substance.

No. 181 - Vanda Miss Joaquim x V. Miss Joaquim Two large type flowers used here. This should provide some interesting variations.

No. 182 - C. Speciosissima very large dark x Lc Mermoz This should be a large fine floriferous dark flowered hybrid. Both parents excellent.

No. 183 - C. Mossiae, very fine large dark x C. Belgica Should produce a very fine dark late winter blooming hybrid fine for cut flowers.

No. 184 - C. Enid fine var. x C. Mermoz Both parents large fine and very floriferous. Should produce flowers nearly the year round.

No. 185 - C. Mossiae fine dark x Lc Altesse This cross should advance the Mossiae flowering season approximately a month and the perfect shape and heavy texture of Altesse should further improve the flower. This Altesse bloomed for us in March this year with five gorgeous flowers on one stem, and now has another sheath with buds.

No. 186 - C. Speciosissima very fine large dark x C. Belgica Should make a very fine large strong dark flower with a predominately winter flowering season.
